Miniature Dahlias

This class embraces all worthy dahlias of any type not exceeding four inches in diameter. A very popular type.

NEW INTRODUCTIONS FOR 1935

- Miss Vivian.....

We are glad to present to our friends a new miniature decorative of unusual merit. The originator, Mr. Glenn Mack has appointed us as one of the few distributors to place his creation on the market and all orders will be filled from his original stock.
- The blossoms are of a very pleasing formation in a lavender pink color on very stiff stems held high above the foliage. As a cut flower for decorative purposes there is no doubt it will far outclass many well known miniatures, and we predict that in years to come it will be the winner of many first prize awards.....

Net $5.00
- Golden Gem.....

In this golden colored miniature decorative we believe we have another prize winner which will be featured in many shows in the next few years. This is one of our own creations and we can highly recommend it as a good keeper. The blossoms are held erect on good stiff stems above the foliage.....

Net $2.50
- Florence Jean Mack.....

Another one of our good friend Mack's originations which is being released this year. It is a true decorative form in a two-tone color, the top of the petals are of a golden color with a reverse of Indian red. The blossoms are carried on good stout stems free from the foliage.....

Net $2.50
- Francis.....

A two tone decorative of our own origination of pink and cream. The blossoms are always in little clusters and usually average about 2½ inches in diameter on good stiff stems.....

Net $1.50
- Little Justin.....

A very good miniature decorative of our creation which has been much admired by visitors to our garden this year. A very attractive formation of tan and rose on good stems.....

Net $1.50

Collarette Dahlias

This type is similar in form to a large Single, with a row of small petals around the center disc, forming a collar, which is as a rule of a different color. The stems are long and stiff, holding the flowers high above the foliage. This type can be used to make up artistic table decorations, but they do not have the keeping qualities found in the Pompon type. They are very attractive and should be included in every collection.

NEW INTRODUCTIONS FOR 1935

- La Golondrini.....A noteworthy addition to the collarette class, originated by Mr. Glen Mack, which is being released through us this year exclusively. The petals are a pure pink which do not have a tendency to be floppy, with a collar of white tipped with pink. A vigorous grower with the blossoms on long stiff stems above the foliage. Stock limited.....Net $2.50
- Calmar.....This attractive buttercup yellow is just enough different from the various other yellows to make it a worthwhile addition. The petals are a buttercup yellow with a collar of yellow tipped with white. A vigorous grower having many blossoms on long stems.....Net $1.50
- Polar Bear.....No collection of collarettes is complete without a white, which we are pleased to offer this year to our friends. This is one of our many seedlings which we found worthy to be released. The petals are white with a center disc of greenish yellow, surrounded by white collarNet $1.50

STANDARD VARIETIES

For other varieties grown by us, see list on third page.

Dahlia Seed

Dahlias grown from seed will bloom the first year and reproduce themselves from roots thereafter. Should be planted in flats during March and when the second set of leaves are developed, the plants should be set out in the open, providing all danger from frost is past.

Mixed seed from named varieties can be furnished in the Pompon, Single, Miniature and Collarette Types, also a limited quantity in the Large Varieties.

All types mentioned above, per package 25 cents
